

About the Firm

Zlotolow & Associates is a personal injury firm dedicated to defending victims of negligent and reckless conduct. For more than twenty-five years, our firm has served the people of New York City and Long Island, fighting on their behalf to help them get the compensation they deserve for the injuries they have suffered. Our team has the litigation experience to pursue your claim from its earliest stages to settlement or a verdict at trial, and we will work with you to devise a litigation strategy that best serves your needs.

We pride ourselves on our aggressive approach to litigation, and we always work to maximize the compensation our clients receive for the harm they suffer. We believe that our clients should never be pressured to accept a settlement for less than they deserve, and we will advocate on your behalf to avoid being pressured by insurance companies or other parties that would prefer you settle for as little as possible.

Our Strategy

When you retain our services, we will meet with you to answer your questions and create a comprehensive litigation strategy to protect your interests and ensure your needs are addressed. We focus on advocating aggressively for our clients, and we are prepared to take your case to trial if that will give you the best outcome to your case. Our attorneys are always available to discuss your case, and we will address any questions you may have about issues you may be facing, including doctor's bills, taking time off work, or receiving compensation for incidental property damage.

Zlotolow & Associates will take over all communications with insurance companies on your behalf, easing the burden you must deal with as you recover from your injury. We will negotiate directly with insurers to maximize your compensation and prevent them from pressuring you into accepting an unsatisfactory settlement. We believe that you deserve nothing less than the best possible outcome for your case, and we will fight to ensure your rights and interests are protected as your case goes forward.
